PM's '17 Gift

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced a slew of schemes on Saturday evening to herald a prosperous 2017 for the urban and rural poor, farmers, small businessmen, senior citizens, and pregnant women. Modi started on a sombre note. For the first 23 minutes, he mainly thanked his countrymen for braving the cash crunch, iterated why demonetisation was a necessary weapon in his fight against black money and corruption, and warned of more action against the dishonest. "The law will take its course with full force. The government will help the honest, protect them, and see that their difficulties are eased," he said. In his address made to the nation on the very day the demonetisation exercise ended, the Prime Minister did not say much about curbs on withdrawals. He only said everyone in the government has been told that banking operations must return to normal as soon as possible. Then he switched to announcement mode, rattling out enough measures to make his speech sound like a mini-Budget. The first in his list for 2017 were two housing schemes under the Prime Minister Awas Yojana (PMAY). For the urban poor, home loans up to '9 lakh will get 4% interest exemption, and loans up to '12 lakh will get 3%. In villages, home loans up to '2 lakh will get 3% interest exemption. This would apply not only to loans for building new houses but also those taken for renovating or expanding an existing one. In all, Modi said 33% more homes will be built in rural areas under the PMAY. There was more for the rural poor, who got the lion's share of the announcements. The govt will pay interest for 60 days on loans taken by farmers for Rabi farming from district cooperative banks and societies.

Development 2017

Udaipur: After being listed in the Smart City project, looks forward to 2017 with great hope. There are plenty of projects that need to see light of the day. Most of these will change the way city looks and provides facilities. Here are some projects that are scoped for this new year.

First Training Centre at MPUAT - A training institute could be approved where expert scientists will be benefited with innovative inventions for new age of agriculture. UIT Bridge - This bridge will help locals and tourists alike. This will also help curb the menace of rainy water. The approximate estimate is 3.50 crores of rupees. Court Complex - Zila and session court could be razed to create a fresh complex with more space, facilities for justice system. As many as eight court session will be there and as many as 50 cars and 200 two-wheelers will be parked easily. During construction, court will be shifted to rented premises. Super Specialty Hospital - The idea is to facilitate all the services under one roof. In this age of super-specialty hospitals, government would not like to stay behind of private players. The plan is to construct a six storey hospital in the empty land in front of Janana and Baal Chikitsalaya. Cyber Center MLSU - The Sukhadia University is planning to launch three courses related to Cyber Law. Professor JP Sharma, the VC has constituted a committee to launch Cyber Security, Cyber Management, and Cyber Law courses.

1. How did you get your idea or concept for the business ?

I used to conduct workshops for schools, colleges and corporate groups on beauty, healing and wellness.

And I really loved it. In the meantime I thought about developing our own brand an pursued dream into reality. Thus, we started with NICC.

2. What is your mission statement ?

At NICC beauty-care, we offer the highest quality of services to our guests utilizing advanced levels of expertise, experience and education in a team based environment. We are fully committed to providing expertly crafted, innovative and artistic services.

3. What services(s) or Product (s) do you offer?

We want to satisfy our customers' hairstyling and make up needs - from hair coloring, also providing Pranic healing, Aura and Spa services. Recently, we are launching "LOCU-TAKE" program.

4. What are you doing to face competition in this ever growing industry ?

This is a loyalty-centric business and unless you are customer-oriented, you cannot scale up.

To achieve success in the thriving and ever changing salon industry, one has to carry exclusive products, maintain long lasting relationship with clients, be savvy about prices and make marketing a central part of the plan.

5. When you were a kid what did you want to be when you grew up ?

I wanted to be a doctor, but due to unfavorable circumstances I could not make it up. I always had keen interest in teaching so I finally decided to do masters in it.

Then I did Ph.D in sociology and certified professional make up course.

6. What are the CSR activities you are undertaking at NICC ?

We have two organization- Drishit Foundation and NICC Education Society looking after below poverty women to learn, develop and make her self dependent.
