Bhagat Singh's

My dear Countrymen,
It is almost a century now when I lived in this sacred country. I have always dreamt of the well being and progress of India and her people. The British Empire had enslaved us and meted beastly treatment to us. But we were never scared. We had faith in ourselves, in our objectives and the people of India. It is good to see that now India is an independent country. We have a parliament and legislative assemblies in the states where the elected leaders decide the policies of the country. I am grieved to see that a part of our country was imputed to form Pakistan which unfortunately could not sustain democracy for long.

India is progressing fast and the technological advancement has changed the very contour of this great country. It is heartening to see the youth doing well in the country and abroad. India is now a power to reckon with. The economy is growing at a pace which is unprecedented in spite of the effects of the slow-down in the west. We need to preserve this at all costs.

But somehow there seems some discrepancy in the model of development we have adopted for ourselves. The rural, tribal and poor people seem to have been left behind in the development process. There is unrest in the east and the farmers in Central India have been forced to commit suicide. The labourers in industries also suffer hardship. Did we dream of freedom for only a handful of people of this country? No, the fruit of freedom must reach the last man in the last row. Simply the transfer of power from the British to the elite ruling class of Indians was not our objec-

ive. We wanted India to become a democratic, socialist and secular republic as was later stated in the preamble of the constitution of India also. But today the powers that hold the reigns do not seem to respect the very ideals laid down in the constitution. They are bent upon dividing the nation on communal lines and one's loyalty to the nation is being judged by what one eats. Even educational institutions and students are being falsely implicated in fabricated charges.

Something seems to have gone wrong somewhere. Who has failed the nation? Those who are elected the leaders or those who elect them? The ruling class, be they leaders or bureaucrats, have been caught engaged in rampant corruption.

The newspapers are full of such reports daily. It is a shame. Most of us kissed the gallows that the countrymen may breathe in a free nation. Is this how they value their freedom?

Even the government seems to be under the pressure of the new imperialist powers. This is a dangerous sign. The country may again be enslaved and our sacrifice wasted.

I exhort you, dear countrymen, to rise above petty self-interest and unite to fight those who divide and enslave you. May be, a time has come to give the slogan of "Inquilab Zindabaad" and "Samrajyavaad Murdabaad" once again- the slogans that we raised when the noose was being put in our necks.

Your comrade and well wisher
Bhagat Singh

"Extending Access to Stroke Care For All" concluded

Udaipur : On behalf of Pacific Centre of Neuro Sciences, "Extending Access to Stroke Care For All" workshop was organized at Pacific Medical College and Hospital. Workshop director Dr Atulabh Vajpayee informed that neurosurgeons all over the country, critical care specialists and experts in neuro-rehabilitation we neuro interventionist, neurologist with cerebral palsy, who are pioneers in the field of treatment of this workshop course has been designed in such a way that the stroke patients during treatment and care from the hospital to home covering all relevant aspects of the stroke occurring during non-invasive and comprehensive management and covers aspects of local conditions. In the course of medical management, surgical management and also covers the finer aspects of neuro-intervention. Dr Atulabh Vajpayee said that knowing is part of the worldwide and peripheral stroke as stroke care, primary stroke unit care and comprehensive stroke center care facility based on our own protocol to prepare, this workshop has been really significant.

Dr Vajpayee said that the one-day workshop had seven sessions in which Padma Shree honoured Dr MV Padma Srivastav from AIIMS New Delhi, Dr Shefali Gulati, Dr Suryakant Dubey, Dr Dheeraj Khurana from PGI Chandigarh and Dr Abhishek Srivastav from Kolkilaben Dhirubhai Ambani Hospital, Mumbai discussed various aspects of neuro stroke.

The main objective PCNS is that all patients gets the best and the most affordable and excellent medical service on time. The Institute is the only center in the whole of southern Rajasthan where paralytic patients, if reached within 6 to 8 hours, the clot is removed from the brain by angiography. In the absence of proper information to common public, patients come after a delay and then they don't get much benefit in that situation. However, for patients who arrive late, there is full treatment available to them at Pacific Centre of Neuro Sciences.

The best feature of PCNS is its excellent infrastructure and southern Rajasthan's largest qualified team of neuro surgeons along with the team of hospital's management, their positive thinking and honest institution through which is always ready to help patients. This course is organized under public awareness and correct information about stroke & paralysis.

According to Agarwal, the second largest cause of death in the country is stroke. If a common man reads about the symptoms of brain stroke, then it is possible to save 80 per cent of stroke patients. If a brain stroke patient arrives on time, then through mechanical thrombectomy, the patient can get a new life.

Access the patient's hospital at the time when the stroke patients without mechanical Tharembektomi technology Chirfad patient can be dropped. This one and a half hour procedure can be performed in India only by a few neuro-intervention specialists.

On Highway development

Udaipur : Under the visionary leadership of MLA Randheer Singh Bhindar, the nagar paalika of Bhindar is setting new standards of development. The president of the Paalika Mr. Govardhan Bhoi told The Royal Harbinger that in just six months of time, Mr. Bhindar has initiated many development tasks already. The endeavor is to raise the paalika's status to third category for which Mr. Bhoi has already requested to the government. Bhoi argued that many other municipalities with less population have third category status while Bhindar is kept in fourth category which is not just. This is why the municipality is getting lower grant from the government. Despite such a financial status, the municipality has completed development works of more than 50 lakhs of rupees. Bhoi said that Sulabh complex and development at Chand pole under the Swachh Bharat campaign have been started with 15 and 12 lakhs respectively. A drinking water dispenser has also been installed at the Rana Pratap Nagar Bus stand.
