American Ambassador mesmerized by Udaipur's history

Udaipur: United States Ambassador to India, Richard Verma, was mesmerized by the historical significance of Udaipur and the beauty at city palace during his visit on Saturday. Bhupinder Auwah, Chief Administrative Officer, Mewar Charitable Foundation informed that US Ambassador reached city palace in the morning with his friends and family members. He was welcomed by the crown prince Lakshya Raj Singh Mewar. Richard visited the Mardana Mahal, Janana Mahal, Roy Aangan, MorChauk, Costume Gallery, Silver Gallery and Music gallery. He was overwhelmed by the beauty of these sections. Bhupinder then took him through the history of Mewar, the heroics of Maharana Pratap and the student-teacher tradition prevalent in the region. He also gave the ambassador a description of the various activities being undertaken by the foundation.

Richard seemed to thoroughly enjoy the moment as he indulged in many a group and solo photographs during the sojourn. He left the place with very warm words etched into the visitors' book about his experience.

Healthcare in Jeopardy

Udaipur: For decades the Maharana Bhupal General Hospital has been known as Bada Asptaal in the city. That simply means the hospital which is biggest in the district and thus people expect all the facilities here.

And if you see broadly the hospital is well equipped but then there seems to be a lack of will to make it a state of the art hospital. There are multiple such equipment in the hospital which are still factory-packed. The administration blames the lack of space but that is costing us with wearing out of rusting machines.

For multiple tests which have machines available in hospital are useless in the absence of apt kits that are used in conducting tests.

Recently the emergency ward of trauma and accidental wards were separated for the convenience of patients but this action is proving to be one of the biggest problems for people in various ways.

It has been reported that emergency of trauma does not issues new slips after 1400 hrs. And then people have to flock to the old emergency for the slips to get going. This becomes very tedious when one is facing an emergency situation. X-Ray which is one of the most common tests is also running occasionally.

First, there is no x-ray facility available round the clock and then patients complain that the machine has some technical glitches thus most of the times they have to wait or reach out to private labs for x-ray which is both expensive and tedious.

There are multiple issues and in the season of monsoon, things normally go haywire. Government can provide facilities but until there is a passion to serve, not much can be changed.

Student Union Elections

Udaipur: The next week will belong to Student Union elections in Udaipur where more than 11600 student voters will decide the fate of a handful of contestants. Both leading parties ABVP and NSUI are working day night to convince voters to favor them. And students are busy discussing the candidature and profiles of the future representatives. With changed times, students vote only for a candidate who has a clean record and is good overall. The belief is that unless a representative is sound and capable of understanding issues, they will not be able to raise voices of behalf of masses and solve issues. One interesting factor that could well affect the voting is timing of elections. The week of election has holidays or Independence Day, Raksha Bandhan, and University Holiday. With three holidays, the students who come from nearby villages or towns would prefer spending the week at home. And most of them would be home on the day of voting. So the city-based voters would be the key for the candidates. The three major parties ABVP, NSUI, and CSS have fielded their best candidates. Chhatra Sangharsh Samiti while is desperate to win after staying far from position in last three terms, ABVP and NSUI has also got their best men at work to strategize. Voters now understand that it is very important to support only a candidate who has clean image and is capable to govern. And with that in mind, voting will decide the fate of these candidates.

New hostel for PG girls

Udaipur: Hostel for girl students doing PG, at MB Hospital premises, has been readied. Is preparing to shift the same month. For the first time in so many years, a separate hostel has been made for girls doing UG and PG. Till now, there was only one hostel. New hostel in front of the existing outdoor Public Works Department in the coming days will be escalated to the Medical College administration. It was informed that the ground floor, three floors of parking, the building has 148 rooms including single bed occupancy. It is important to note that the PG students need to go for round clock duty in the hospital, whereas the UG students don't have any duty.

PM Modi participates in MyGov Town hall

New Delhi : The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi, on Sunday interacted with people in a unique townhall style interaction over 100 minutes.

The Prime Minister's townhall marked the culmination of a day-long event to mark two years since the launch of MyGov - the Government's web platform for participatory governance. In reply to a question on good governance, the Prime Minister said that the spirit of democcracy is incomplete if one thinks the citizen's role stops at voting. Participative democracy is essential, he emphasized. He said 'last mile delivery' is as important as policies, and the benefits must reach the intended beneficiaries. He said good governance means those processes that are redundant do not exist. Grievance redressal systems are the biggest strengths of a democracy, he added.

On the subject of economic growth and development, the Prime Minister said that if India could grow at 8 per cent for 30 years, it would have all that is best across the world. He asserted that India is growing at a rapid pace despite the global slowdown.

The Prime Minister spoke about agriculture as the sector which could drive the entire Indian economy. He said the Prime Minister Krishi Sinchai Yojana and soil health card were some of the initiatives being taken, which would benefit this sector.

Speaking of the handloom sector, the Prime Minister said that "Khadi for Nation, Khadi for Fashion," should be our guiding principle.

In response to a question on Smart Cities and development of rural areas, the Prime Minister mentioned the Rurban Mission, and said his vision is to provide modern amenities to the rural areas, while retaining the soul of villages.

The Prime Minister described "India First" as the central theme of his foreign policy. He said the Indian diaspora has played a key role in connecting India with other nations. Shri Narendra Modi emphasized the importance of preventive healthcare, and also said the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan is an important element in this regard. He also mentioned the Government's immunization campaign - Mission Indradhanush. Expressing anger at self-styled "gau-rakshaks" (cow-protectors) who "run shops in the name of cow protection," and urged action against criminals who masquerade as protectors of the cow.

Earlier, the Prime Minister interacted briefly on stage with contributors to the Mann Ki Baat Radio Programme, and the MyGov platform.

The Prime Minister launched a new PMO App, and also met the young contributors who had helped develop this App.

For Sustainable Growth And Livability

Plan Cities On River Basin Approach

Udaipur: The river basin based town planning ensures sustainable growth and development of any city with dynamic and active participation of all its stakeholders. It guarantees availability of safe and sufficient drinking water ; protection of hills and mountains; conservation of lakes and rivers ;and environmental disposal of all waste generated. Hence, to develop Udaipur as real smart city, entire upper Berach basin shall be treated as one unit and accordingly schemes shall be planned and implemented.

This was stated by Dr Anil Mehta, a known water - sanitation expert and Principal of Vidya Bhawan Polytechnic while addressing team of experts engaged in water and sanitation performance level assessment of over 500 cities of Maharashtra, Gujrat, Telngana and Chhatisgarh. The team was in Udaipur for their annual meeting and retreat, organized by CEPT University Ahemdabad and All India Institute of Local Self Government , Mumbai.

Mehta informed the participants that Udaipur has taken proactive step to manage septage -the sludge deposited in septic tanks. The CPR New Delhi with the help of Vidya Bhawan Polytechnic, Wolkem India Ltd and Nagar Nigam Udaipur has developed Septic Tank Design , Construction and Management Manual and soon it would act as guideline for construction of septic tanks. The modal septage management bylaws have also been drafted and soon will be presented to Nagar Nigam.

Mehta expressed worries that indiscriminate cutting of hills encircling Udaipur Valley, the upper Breach basin, would result in great disaster. We need to protect natural topography and original green spaces of Udaipur Valley.

Similarly, the shore line of lakes up to maximum water level and flood plain of Ahar river upto HFL need to be restored . He emphasized the need of eco technological solutions for treatment of solid waste and sewerage produced by the city instead of energy consuming, machine based treatments. The participants were also addressed by Mr. Satish Shrimali, Senior Town Planner who highlighted steps taken to make Udaipur a smart city. In the beginning, the Professor emiratus of CEPT University , Dr Dinesh Mehta and Director , Urban and Environment Study Centre of All India Institute of Local Self Government Welcomed the participants and presented overview of water and sanitation performance level of major cities of the country.
