Avoid Fools & Save Energy

A wise enemy is much better than a foolish friend. My mom repeated this several times but I trusted my own will. In this small journey of life whenever I had encountered with foolish people, I remembered my mother's words and truly curse my instinct.

Foolish people don't easily accept their mistakes and drag you into a situation so badly that you hardly find any way to escape. Priyam works in a firm as a manager. He is a highly short tempered man. My friend Ria works in the same company. Gradually they have become best friends. Priyam loses temper very often and sometimes he passes such foolish comments in office that Ria feels awkward to deal with the situation instantly. Every person is born with some or the other weakness. But as we grow old, it becomes necessary to control our emotions in public places.

Ria also gets hurt easily. She opposes Priyam's views to get better results. As a friend she helps him to overcome his emotions. But Priyam never understands her emotions and expects a lot from Ria. Their friendship has become talk of the town because Priyam always creates scene publicly and Ria fails to solve the problems. Other employees make fun of this relationship behind their back.

Ria tries hard to leave Priyam but every time she forgives his foolishness with big heart. Priyam always convinces her that it is Ria's mistake which made him angry. Priyam is unable to control anger and blames others for his foolish behaviour. Both are suffering and blaming each other for their bad reputations. People don't control emotions on time and keep on throwing sludge madly on one another which spoil relationships forever. Making or breaking relationships may be a personal choice but it is difficult to deal with foolishness all the time with patience. Intelligent people ponder upon the facts before taking any decision but foolish people create troubles and impose on others for their personal weaknesses too.

I am nobody to give advise on sensitive topics but I have experiences to set my own criteria. After long discussions with friends and others I have come into conclusion that avoiding fools can save time and energy. Fools have no caste, colour and religion, they can be found anywhere on our planet. Roads are filled with those who don't use common sense while driving and when accident occurs they start shouting and quarrelling. Work places are full with those who are always ready to confront others with seniors.

I feel sorry for these people and apologizing for giving my valuable time to them. It makes my life comfortable when I avoid fools and come back home in the evening with more energy and peace. Try this formula and make yourself trouble free.

Sunday, my favourite day

It's a sunny day, going to be a funny day
Come on my friends let's play!
See the beautiful morning,
Like a dream
Snow melting like an ice cream
waves crashing on the sea-shore
Piping with the wind, I yodel
Flowers are blooming in the bride
I can see sunshine on your face,
on a bright sunny day
A lovely day on a holiday
It's sunday, my favourite day!

Malai Kulfi recipe

Ingredients:

2 1/2 cups full-fat milk
1/2 cup condensed milk
1/4 cup milk powder
1/2 tsp cardamom (elaichi) powder

Method:

Combine the milk, condensed milk and milk powder in a deep non-stick pan, mix well and bring to a boil.

Add the cardamom powder, mix well and cook on a medium flame for 22 to 25 minutes, scraping the sides in between, while stirring occasionally.

Switch off the flame and allow the mixture to cool completely. Once cooled, pour the mixture into 6 kulfi moulds and freeze overnight or till firm.

To unmould, allow the moulds to remain outside the refrigerator for 5 minutes and then unmould by inserting a wooden skewer stick in the centre of the kulfi and pull it out.

Serve immediately.

Terminated Jio employees to protest at Jaipur Jio office on Sunday

Jaipur: Hundreds of Jio employees who have been terminated illegally in last one year from Jaipur and nearby places staged a protest in Jaipur on Sunday at the Jio office.

On Friday also hundreds of employees had protested for two hours. Maximum employees have been terminated after the successful launch of reliance jio.

Rahul Chaudhary, who had worked as manager in Reliance Jio charged that nearly 2500 employees had been terminated in last one year. The employees worked twelve to fourteen hours daily for the successful launch of the scheme.

But when the scheme was successfully launched they were terminated even without any notice. Most of the employees are graduated and have qualifications in IT which is required for the eligibility for the posts they were working. The employees collected for protest on Sunday at 6.00 am at the office of Reliance Jio in Jaipur in big numbers.

The management changed the time of the shifts to be changed from 6.00 am to 9.00am. But his did not deter the employees and nearly 200 employees participated in the protest. The management of the local unit did not even accept the memorandum saying that they were not the employees of Jio but were the employees of a contractor company NSB BPO Ltd. The employees were shocked to hear this. The management of Jio and the contractor company could not present the registration under Contract labour (Abolition and Regulation Act) 1970.

The employees decided to launch a massive protest from a union and approach labour court.

A committee of 35 employees was also formed in the leadership of Rahul Chaudhary, Dushyant Khunteta, Khem Singh, Kailash Chand, Nand Kishore Yadav, Akshay Panwar and Ramesh.

Saurabh Naruka of AICTTU said that all employees who had been terminated in the past are will be mobilized to fight against this anti workers move.
