Team Rajasthan is Working Tirelessly to Eradicate Inequality and Discrimination : CM

Jaipur: Addressing the huge gathering on the 71st state level Independence Day function at Sawai Mansingh Stadium Chief Minister Smt. Vasundhara Raje has said Team Rajasthan is working tirelessly to eradicate economic-social inequality and discrimination in the state. She said true independence was when every child got compulsory education, every person had access to free healthcare, every deprived person got justice and youth had employment opportunities.

Smt. Raje extended her greetings to the people of the state on this occasion. She paid her tribute to the freedom fighters and martyrs. The Chief Minister said we were heading towards a new Rajasthan which was prosperous, self-respecting, corruption and casteism free and free from fetid, illiteracy and poverty as well. "We have to make a Rajasthan which is young and modern, a Rajasthan which we envisaged in our vision document presented before the public on 13 December, 2013", she said.

The CM said that Rajasthan was working fast on the path shown to us by Pt. Deendayal Upadhyay. She added that Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi was guiding a hard-working Team Rajasthan to realise this dream of economic and social freedom. On this occasion of Independence Day, Smt. Raje made several important announcements. She dedicated a new telephone helpline for registration of public grievances and problems with sensitivity and ensure time bound redressal. This innovative Rajasthan Sampark Helpline would be made available by dialling '181' and it would take on complaints regarding road, power, water issuance of documents or certificates etc, she added. The CM further announced a scheme to disburse low-interest loans worth Rs. 200 crore to women associated with cooperative committees. About 3.5 lakh women would be benefited by this.

India is Awesome!

The free India is now 70 years old. Given this period and considering the challenges and issues, we have done great indeed. In these seven decades, we progressed enough to be able to rub shoulders with the countries that got freedom centuries ago. We're being considered a strong economy and we present a great market to the world. There is no business player that does not want to be in India. From safety pins to planes, we have the capability to produce, manufacture, and create anything.

We are a super power indeed by all means. From heartwarming love for the world to nuclear power, we have the solution for everyone in the world. Amid all the progress, we have been able to conserve the soul of the country.

Our inheritance from the ages of Ramayana and Mahabharata is still with us and is very strong. The fabric of Indianness is still unspoiled and we own that truly. The beauty of life lies in the phrase of 'live and let live' and we swear by it.

Doctrines that our ancestors wrote and taught us have always been strong and reliable. Our faith in the laws of Karma are strong and that is why despite being surrounded by many enemies, we have galloped into the new millennium with great conviction of brotherhood.

India though believes in nonviolence, is totally capable of dealing with the foes effectively. And the world knows it well.

Today, there is no country that can attack India. Our defense has been made rock solid in these seven decades. We are so capable that most of the internal attacks are foiled much before they take shape. Our intelligence system and forces are second to none.

Today, we run many such industries that cater to various needs of the world. Many industries are being fueled by the talent from India. From world's top notch space agency to computer software firms, Indians are everywhere. And they are not just workers there, nope, they are masterminds of the programs.

They create great architectures, they write efficient code, they treat most difficult diseases, they run some fast cars, and they are also there in the space.

power of talent, power, economy, education, medical, and what not, Indian are humble. They know the art of living and they live each moment. They love their parents and strive for love in the family. They know how to run a house in all cases. Even the monsters of economic disasters cannot hurt this country, as they know how to save money for future.

No other country in the world is as diversified as India is. A home for many cultures and traditions, the India is an epitome of the concept of world brotherhood. India is awesome and India is a true world leader. The country teaches the world the way to live with other, grow together, and create a heaven on the Earth.
