When we talk about friendship, the one picture that comes across our eyes is that of a person of the age we belong to, who shares all the emotions with us, and the one with whom we can share secrets of life candidly.

If you look closely, you will find that the friendship is the fundamental and foremost emotion that lays the foundation of any other relation with us. From parents to siblings, the cousins, they all are our friends at a level.

We've read a many times that friends are the people we choose while we get all other relations in inheritance. Perhaps this is why we choose friends carefully and preserve their love with all our heart.

Now if the same facilities of a friend are available in a person in the family, we get close to them. Look around in your family, and you will find that you are more close to your father than mother or vice versa. It does not mean that the person who is close to us loves us more or spends more time or money on us, it instead elucidates that the person we love is more a friend than a typical relative.

Life becomes easy when you have no rules to follow and no restrictions to abide, but you still ensure that dignity and love are well maintained. A friend does precisely that. So, what if we become friends with our relatives and colleagues? What if we are told that you do not need to hide anything from your father? You will be amazed to know that you will still keep the discipline of the relationship and you will ensure their hearts remain warm and content.

This is the magic of friendship. No matter who you are dealing with, be friendly. And when the base is friendship, you automatically inspire love and respect because friends love and respect each other genuinely. This love and veneration keep the relation live and warm, and you lead the life with a positive aura around you.

When you are friends with your wife, you will share your life with them and then there will be no ego issues or prestige points. When you are open to each other, you maintain a strong bond of trust. This trust transpires everlasting love. What else do you need!

Be open and talk often. There are a lot of things that are yet unsaid. Some of them have developed in some other direction. You are still unaware of the views of others, but then you have framed something in your mind, which is increasing the distance between you and them gradually. And why is it so? Just because the other person is related to you and you failed to open up due to some silly rules formed by the society. Like you cannot talk about your sex life with your father or you cannot talk to your father in law the way you to your own father, and so on.

Make your own rules and talk to everyone you are related to. Time though heals all wounds; it also deepens the wounds if left unattended. Keep the time on your side. Talk to everyone with a friendly attitude, and you will notice wonders around you.

Friendship is positive power; make good use of it to endorse love in your relationships.

Jaipur Foot artificial limb fitment camp at PhuTho province

Jaipur: The second phase of the Jaipur Foot artificial limb fitment camp for the people with disabilities began in PhuTho province and northern mountainous area of Vietnam. This rehabilitation camp for the Vietnam war invalids and citizens has been organised jointly by the Indian ministry of external affairs and the producers of the Jaipur Foot, Bhagwan Mahaveer Viklang Sahayata Samiti (BMVSS), the Jaipur based world's largest organisation for the handicapped.

India's ambassador to Vietnam, P Harish and his wife, Veerendra Raj Mehta, the executive President of the BMVSS, Duong Hoang Huong, Vice President of Provincial People's Council, Do Ngoc Dung, Member of Provincial People Council cum the Director of Department of Foreign Affairs; Tran Thi Huynh, Deputy Director of Department of Health; Tran Quyet Chien, Deputy Director of Department of Foreign Affairs; Pham Thi Thu Huong, Deputy Director of Department of Labor, Invalids and Social Affairs, BMVSS executive president VR Mehta said, apart from Vietnam, a simultaneous camp is being organised at Yangon in Myanmar and the camp is organised jointly by the external affairs ministry and the BMVSS under an agreement with the BMVSS as the implementing agency. Mehta said that in the earlier camp at Vinh Puc 267 persons were benefitted and in the current camp 200 persons.

This is a deeply meaningful social and humanitarian activity for citizens and people in the area. Furthermore, the camp is organized on the occasion of 71st anniversary of Vietnam war invalids, martyrs (27/7/1947 - 27/7/2018) when all levels of government bodies and people in PhuTho province in particular and Vietnam in general are celebrating and showing gratitude and tribute to all war invalids and martyrs.

Ambassador P Harish said, that the camp has been organised in association with the BMVSS under an agreement where the ministry of external affairs will hold camps in foreign countries and the beginning has been made from Vietnam.

After more than a year of conducting surveys and evaluations under Vietnam Ministry of Health's consent, PhuTho People's Committee and the BMVSS experts collaborated with the Spark Minda Group, an Indian company to select PhuTho Provincial General Hospital as a field site of the fitment camp, which may help over 200 disabled people in the mountainous area.

In addition to supporting facilities, technicians, doctors and medical staff in the 20 day camp, the hospital will be responsible for organizing, monitoring and periodically follow-up checkup for the people who get prosthesis in the camp.

Little Millennium Education bags the prestigious award

Udaipur: Carving a niche for itself in giving quality education in the preschool category in India for over a decade, Little Millennium, one of the leading and finest chain of preschools today added a feather in their cap by bagging the prestigious Best Pre - School Chain of the Year - Jury's Choice award at the ScooNews Global Educators Fest 2018 held today in Udaipur. The award was received by Mr Raman Bajaj, Chief Executive Officer, Little Millennium Education Pvt.Ltd.

The ScooNews Global Educators Fest 2018 conference is one of India's most preferred and potential brainstorming epicenter for new policy initiatives. ScooNews Global Educators Fest 2018 conference was attended by over 500 education leaders who created a strong buzz for new policy initiatives and ideas in the field of education.

Speaking on the occasion, Mr Bajaj said, "While we are at the cusp of change with multiple challenges at every step, we can never negate the fact that it is entirely our education, grooming and shaping up from tender age that makes us face these challenges with ease, courage and fortitude. The crucial formative years are the best and most important years in the life of our children.

Little Millennium journey in the last ten years has been very rewarding and extremely insightful. We have expanded to over 600 preschools across 100 cities. More importantly, we have also raised the bar in terms of quality, faculty, infrastructure, courseware, safety and security."

"I am very grateful and delighted to receive this award. The real credit goes to the thousands of teachers and hundreds of principals, who work in our preschools, passionately and tirelessly. It is because of our teachers that our brand has become an epitome of hard work, good corporate ethics and solid social values." Mr Bajaj added.

Press meet

Many eminent educators from India and abroad had arrived at Udaipur and attended the second edition of the ScooNews Global Educators Fest. This conference, was organized by ScooNews - a Jaipur based education media house, is quickly becoming the preferred destination for eminent educators from across the globe for brainstorming advances in education.

Influential personalities like Varun Gandhi, MP, Dr. Swati Popat Vats, President Podar

Education Network, Sean Slade, ASCD USA, Anand Kumar of Super 30, Prof. B.P. Sharma, Pacific University, Lata Vaidyanathan, Founder Principal, Modern School, Barakhamba, and many more shared the views. ScooNews introduced the Jewels of India Awards from this edition of the Fest. This Award celebrates a handful of educators from amongst thousands who become a beacon of inspiration for others.

What sets these awards apart is that no nominations are invited, rather educators are identified by in-depth, year-round research focused on identifying educators who are making a far reaching impact in the field of education and have the potential to inspire fellow educators to change the game.

The Fest was encouraged by Lakshyaraj Singh Mewar and is being held in the fairy-tale like City Palace of Udaipur. The Fest promises to be a sensory treat for all visitors as they will spend 2 days in the splendid City Palace overlooking the iconic lake Pichola.

The glittering awards ceremonies for Teacher Warriors and Jewels of India promise to be truly memorable as they will be held at the world renowned Jagmandir Palace right in the middle of Lake Pichola.

The Fest positioned as 'India's largest education brainstorm' and is designed to facilitate sharing of ideas, best practices and encourages networking to diffuse the latest developments amongst all attendees. Ensnored away from worldly distractions, this year's edition, like last year, promises to be a highly intellectual affair equipping the participants with workable and practical ideas. Speaking on the sidelines of #SCEF2018, Mr. Lakshyaraj Singh Mewar, shared, Udaipur was amongst the first cities to have an 'All Girls School' way back in 1864 something that many parts of the country still aspire to have. While planning the town, special emphasis had been given to educational institutions and as a result there are over 350 easily accessible educational institutions today. Maharana Mewar Charitable Foundation in which I serve as a Trustee has two schools in its fold; one of them in the City Palace itself. So, when a conference of this magnitude came around, it was but natural that we extend our wholehearted support to this unique endeavor to make India a Global Education Powerhouse and take the first step towards establishing Udaipur at the center of this powerhouse. My Best Wishes to the organizers for the forthcoming Fest."

Mr. Rahul Agarwal, Secretary, Pacific University said, "Partnering with ScooNews was a natural decision as the theme of ScooNews Global Educators Fest 2018 of 'Transforming India into a Global Education Powerhouse' resonates deeply with Pacific University's vision of imparting transformative education which ultimately benefits the global community. We hope to continue working with ScooNews and help transform the educational landscape."

Welcoming the delegates at the Fest, Mr. Ravi Santlani, CEO, ScooNews said, "SooNews Global Educators Fest is a platform that is rapidly cementing its place as a productive brainstorm session for educators from across the globe, and our most eminent speakers and delegates vindicate our offering.

We have chosen Udaipur as the venue for this year's fest as it is the most beautiful place in India to be in during the monsoons and great beauty can truly inspire progressive thinking. I wish that all the educators benefit from this year's Fest and go back with many productive and practical ideas and best practices."

A ray of hope for the children of "Bheelo ka Jhopda"

Udaipur: 3 years old Payal, eagerly waits for the clock to strike 12 in the afternoon. The reason behind her eagerness is to go to the Khushi Child Care Centre for her favourite food - 'groundnuts'. Payal belongs to a small village in the district of Chittorgarh called Bheeloka Jhopda. The village has only 25 homes comprising of not more than 150 people however, today, there runs a Child Care Centre of Hindustan Zinc.

Hindustan Zinc under its Khushi Project, has built a Child Care centre in the village, for children who are below 5 years of age. This centre is running since 4 years and has nearly 21-25 children coming every day. Pinky Sharma, the teacher here, provides the children with primary education including reciting of poems in Hindi and English. Not only this, but every day, Pinky is accompanied by her 6-month old daughter, Naveena, who keenly watches her mother teach, already absorbing the treasures of knowledge from such a young age. Previously, this village had not even seen the face of a school because there never had been any kind of Educational Institution to cater to the children here, due to which they were deprived of their very basic right - the right to basic education, health and nutrition. Almost 1/3rd of world's malnourished children in the world are from India alone. As stated by UNICEF, nearly half of all deaths in children under 5 are attributable to undernutrition, translating into the loss of about 3 million young lives a year.
