Diwali is the festival of lights and it's a magical time of year

Celebrating Diwali

Diwali marks the New Year for some, but the season has benefits for everyone. The first is that cities, homes, shops, temples and just about everything else are glowing. In anticipation of Diwali, families, friends and shopkeepers decorate and glorify their homes and businesses, assembling elaborate floral arrangements, bright lights, and neon streamers. The streets sparkle in the evening, and fireworks burst throughout the night of Diwali. Diwali experience included a candlelit dinner and lots of festive sparks as it was a special occasion, indeed.

The second bonus of Diwali season is the shopping. Everyone shops. This was an unexpected but welcome tradition, particularly for my partner. The Diwali festival is dedicated to Goddess Laxmi and Lord Ganesha. Celebrators pray to these powers for wealth, peace and prosperity. One way celebrators do so is by wearing new outfits, making once-a-year purchases and exchanging cherished gifts with close friends and loved ones. We were inspired by the merriment and shopped 'till we dropped: handwoven rugs, cashmere shawls, camel bone jewelry boxes, ruby earrings and gemstone bracelets for our moms, lots and lots of suiting — always getting the "Diwali Discount" thanks. The shopping was a dance at times, but it was fun and friendly, and we shared memorable moments

The general popularity of the festival is a third reason why Diwali is such a special time to visit Rajasthan. Schoolkids have vacation, local businesses are booming, markets are abuzz, and some revelers go on holiday themselves. Spirits run high and you can feel the excitement. Diwali provisions and traditions are bold and eye-catching, from decadently sweet mithai concessions to equally indulgent patchworks made of vintage wedding dresses. The festivities can extend for days beyond the actual night of Diwali,

IM Udaipur Joins the Prestigious FT Master in Management Ranking 2019

Udaipur: "IIM Udaipur has always approached management education as a journey of transformation. Being in the FT MIM Ranking is a validation of IIM Udaipur's focus on our long-term vision. Our accomplished faculty, outstanding alumni and talented students have enabled us to make rapid progress on our path of continuous growth and innovation. Our most recent step on this path was the launching of the first-ever one year MBA in digital enterprise management for experienced professionals," - Janat Shah, Director, Indian Institute of Management, Udaipur.

In less than ten years from its founding, IIM Udaipur now becomes part of the prestigious Financial Times (FT) Master in Management (MIM) Ranking 2019.

FT MIM Ranking is recognized globally as one of the key indicators of excellence for a B-school. Until 2018, only three IIMs were part of the FT MIM ranking - IIM Ahmedabad, Bangalore, and Calcutta. In 2019, IIM Udaipur joins this elite group in 76th position.

FT ranking assesses a variety of criteria including alumni salary and career progress; value for money; school diversity (female faculty, students and board members); international experience and research; and student internships. After gaining AACSB accreditation in November 2018, IIM Udaipur became eligible to be considered for Financial Times MIM ranking 2019 which includes top B-schools from Europe, Asia and North America.

"IIM Udaipur started its journey with a clear vision in place which included a commitment to thought leadership in high-quality research and to developing managers and entrepreneurs amply prepared to be tomorrow's leaders. From day one the Institute has meticulously designed programs and processes which have helped us to be in FT MIM ranking today. As an Institute we have always set lofty goals for ourselves and such achievements give us the confidence and motivation to aim higher," said Pankaj Patel, Chairman of IIM Udaipur.

With the exception of schools that were created by merging existing institutions of long-standing, IIM Udaipur is the youngest management school in the world in both the FT top MIM 100 ranking and the QS MIM ranking. Last year IIMU became the youngest B-school in India to receive the AACSB accreditation (Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) and joined the elite group of 5 percent of the world's B-schools.
