A group dance competition was held after lunch.

JUDICIAL SERVICES RESULT UDAIPURITES EXCEL

Is there any relation between the result of a competitive exam and the changes taking place in the society. Of course yes. The first revealing fact of the result of the Rajasthan Judicial Service Entrance Exam 2018 is that female candidate's outnumbered male ones. Out of 197 successful candidates 126 (64%) are women and they secured 8 out of the top 10 places.

Three of them are from Jaipur. The remaining ones are Diksha Madan, Sonal Vyas (Bikaner), Priya Gupta (Karnal, Haryana), Shikha Purohit (Bharatpur) and Sonal Lalwani (Jodhpur).

Candidates from Udaipur have done extremely well. Topper Mayank Pratap Singh who is just 21 and half year old has the distinction of being the youngest to clear this exam. After passing class 8 from Mavli, he went to Jaipur. His father Rajkumar is Headmaster, Sangrampur, Bhindar, Udaipur and mother Manju is senior teacher, Balawas, Vallabh Nagar Udaipur. He has passed his Law degree exam from Rajasthan University and while studying kept preparing for his entrance exam. He studied for 8 months devoting 10 to 12 hours every day. He is studied all the judgments of the Supreme Court closely. He was confident of his success but never dreamt that he would be the topper. He feels that for improvement in judicial system and more transparency it should be linked with technology. He would try to decide long pending case to clear the huge backlog.

Meenakshi Bilochi who is 31 has secured 85th rank in her second attempt a resident of Hiran Magri Sector 6, Udaipur. She is the first lady from Sindhi community of the town to clear this exam. Her father Prakash Kumar Bilochi owns Jyoti Properties in front of Udaipur Court. As he was in contact with lawyers, he felt that his daughter should also join Judiciary Service and due to this, she decided to make second attempt to be a judge in spite of the fact that she had already been selected for the post of junior legal officer in AVNL. For her success she gives full credit to the Director, law college, advocate doctor Satyendra Sankhla and her parents. She worked hard after clearing her pre exam. She studied for 9 to 10 hours every day. She focused on civil law as it was difficult.

Resident of Ghosia Colony, Khanjipeer Udaipur, Shehnaz Khan has secured 146th position in general and first position in OBC category. She is the first one among Muslims of Udaipur to be selected. She devoted 12 hours every day for studies and kept herself away from social media. She says that she would talk one month training before getting the responsibility of a judge. One needs firm determination before taking up any big responsibility or big cases. Her father Salim Khan is an advocate and that inspired her. She would try to reduce the number of pending cases. She had full support of Dr. Satyendra Sankhla and Anand Paliwal of Law College.

Lalita Soni daughter of Shyam Sundar Soni of Fatehpur has been successful in her second attempt. A member of Bar Association she is the third one to be selected from Fatehpur. She devoted 14 hour to her studies every day for her success she gives credit to the support of her family and "Guru" Rakesh Yadav. Udaipurites can be rightly proud of these big achievers.

Doctor of Philosophy in English Awarded to Shameem Quader

Udaipur: Janardan Rai Nagar Rajasthan Vidyapeeth (Deemed to be University) has awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in English to Ms. Shameem Quader. She has completed her research in the supervision of Prof. H.S. Chandalia on the topic "Man and Nature: An Eco-critical Study of Select Novels of Ruskin Bond." Eco-criticism is a comparatively new area of research which began in the 1980s with the increasing consciousness among people about the need to discuss the ecological imbalances and how literature could make contribution in creating a kind of awareness about the inherent relationship between nature and man. The scholar has taken complete fiction of Ruskin Bond for her study who is an Indian author of British origin and has lived his life in Dehradun amidst the bounties of nature. Ruskin Bond is known for his deep love with nature and his writings abound in reflections on human-nature relationship.

Young student parliament @Neerja Modi School

ment @Neerja Modi School

Udaipur: Students of classes 5-7 of Neerja Modi School located in Chitrakoot Nagar participated in Young Student Parliament held at Neerja Modi School, Jaipur.

In this workshop, the students tried to fulfill their responsibilities by wearing the costumes of different states and becoming parliamentary representatives of those states. Just as Question Hours and Zero Hours are organized in Parliament, in the same way, the students also sought to resolve the burning problems of their respective states by presenting them to the Speaker. Students demonstrated the role of different ministers like Home Minister, Finance Minister, Education Minister, Transport Minister, etc. in a very good way.

In this workshop, the students got an opportunity to understand the Indian Parliament and its functioning closely. The director of the school, Mrs. Sakshi Sojatia, appreciated the children's contribution and encouraged them to give priority to such activities.

Dilated cardiomyopathy patients treated successfully

Udaipur: At the Pacific Medical College and Hospital, Bedla, successful operation of 21 mm stones was done in the gall bladder of a patient suffering from the problem of Dilated cardiomyopathy. The operation was carried out by the team of gastro surgeon Dr. Vikesh Joshi, cardiac anesthetic Dr. Samir Goyal, Dr. Anil Ratnavat, Brijesh Bhardwaj and Deepak.

49-year-old Vajayram Upadhyay, a resident of Indoda village of Aspur in Dagarpur, had been suffering from stomach pain for the past several months. The family showed Vajayram to Dr. Viresh Joshi, a gastro surgeon, and after examining the patient, it was found that the stones were found in the patient's gall bladder, which was possible by the operation.

Dr. Vesh Joshi, a surgeon, said that the operation of Vajayram was complicated because the patient's heart was working only 30%, so the patient's life could also, be lost during the operation.

Cardiac anesthetic Dr. Samir Goyal said that gall bladder operation is normal but Vajayram had a problem with Dilated cardiomyopathy due to which the operation was risky. The patient is still healthy and is discharged.

Successful operation of lungs cyst in PMCH

Udaipur: Successful surgery of the lung was performed in the Pacific Medical College and Hospital in the Pacific Center of Cardiac Sciences. 23-year-old Leela Bai, a resident of Lalas village in Chittorgarh had been suffering due to chest pain and shortness of breath for the last one month. When the family brought him to the Pacific Hospital, where he showed the surgeon to Dr. KC Vyas, Leela Bai found the cyst in the lungs. Whose treatment was possible only by operation.

Leela Bai was admitted to the unit of cardiac surgeon Dr. Shirish M. Dhoble and after conducting all pre-operation investigations, the patient was taken to the operation theater. This successful operation, which lasted one and a half hours, was carried out by the surgeon Dr. Shirish M. Dhoble, cardiac anesthetic Dr. Samir Goyal and his team.

Cardiac surgeon Dr. Shirish M. Dhoble said that in this operation, about 600 milliliters of cysts were extracted from the right lung of Leela Bai along with a lump equal to a ball of a crate. Dr. Dhoble said that this type of lump can occur in any part of the body, mainly due to the infection of tapeworm (a type of worm) which can be caused by coming in contact with an infected object or eating contaminated food. This infection is more common in the liver, but due to this type of infection in the lungs, the gout is quite rare. In this operation, along with the government's Bhamashah scheme, the management was very supportive. Leela Bai is completely healthy now. The family members of Leela Bai praised Rahul Agarwal, a highly trained staff, high-tech operation theater at the Pacific Center of Cardiac Sciences and all staff for excellent care at affordable rates.
