Modi's Influential Speech Boost Confidence in J & K

The gaze of the country was on the recent visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to Jammu and Kashmir because he reached the soil of Jammu and Kashmir for the first time after the abrogation of Article 370. His visit has given many positive messages and has become a medium of peace and development. Certainly his journey has become the cause of a new atmosphere in this province. Jammu and Kashmir is the jewel of our country which, unless it is integrated with the whole of India, the environment of peace, terrorism and development does not visible there; it has been seen as incomplete. That is why it is important to connect it with the rest of India in every way and this work has been done by Modi and his government.

It should be our resolve to rectify the mistakes of the past and take steps carefully in building the future. Modi has expressed this resolution in his speech in Samba.

Giving details of the work done in Jammu and Kashmir, Narendra Modi also underlined that how development and public welfare works are being done rapidly. Not only development plans are molding into shape, but there has been an atmosphere of peace and harmony, terrorist incidents have also been controlled.

Since the Modi government came, the development of Jammu and Kashmir has been carried forward in a phased manner. At the right time, the central government has shown the same determination to curb terrorism and fulfill the remaining desired tasks as it was shown while removing Article 370 and gave a message to the world along with the country that no one's interference in Kashmir is acceptable. Kashmir is the crown of India and always will be.

Modi's visit to Kashmir assumes significance as the people there have seen peace and development come true after coming a long way in the jungle of communalism, nationalism, terrorism and scams. His mentality was injured and the faith on which his thinking was based has also been shaken. In the midst of these situations, Modi particularly attracted the attention of the people there, especially the youth, with the words that you will never have to face the troubles that your parents, grandparents had to face. He clearly said that he would fulfill his promise. It is hoped that these words of his will have a positive effect. Anyway, in the past few years, there have been many such developmental works, which were not done before.

Development plans are taking shape rapidly, including investments from abroad. It is also worth noting that the delegation accompanying the Prime Minister also included top business leaders from the United Arab Emirates (UAE), an important member country of the Muslim bloc, who are taking special interest in investing in Jammu and Kashmir. It is being said that UAE companies are going to invest more than 3000 crores there. This will certainly be a new thing for Jammu and Kashmir. Through all this, the government has tried to give a message that a new chapter of democracy and development is being written in Jammu and Kashmir with peace and harmony. Elements trying to keep Jammu and Kashmir in a disturbed and sensitive area are the most troubled by such messages.

Prime Minister Modi's address is a light in Palli, a small village in the Samba region of Jammu. Resolve to establish peace. The public is assured of development and moving towards a terror-free life. The maturity of understanding and harmony is visible in the change being experienced in the mind-set of the common people there. Modi's visit is taking place at a time when this province is coming out from battling various challenges.

There is no such great personality on the political stage there that can save the province from the confusion. There is a loss of trust in the so called narrow and prejudiced leadership; attention has to be paid to how honest, modern and nationalist thinking and welfare outlook can emerge.

Modi's visit will play a decisive role in this direction. Undoubtedly, a lot has changed in Jammu and Kashmir since the abrogation of Article 370 and this change is also visible, but a lot remains to be done. The events that are happening are not indicating auspicious. The unrest in the Valley, the desperate activities of terrorists, eve-teasing from across the border - these speak a lot. There will be assembly elections sooner or later and possibly after the completion of the delimitation process, but before the elections are held, the challenge of putting a stop to terrorism completely will also have to be overcome.

Even after the elimination of all the terrorists, the way terrorist incidents are happening in Kashmir, due to which the return of Kashmiri Hindus is not possible at the moment. Whatever has to be done, this work has to be made possible, because only then the message will be sent to the terrorists and their supporters that their pulse is not going to rot. It would also be appropriate to reserve some seats in the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly for Kashmiri Hindus and Sikhs.

Modi's visit to Jammu has brought many lights. This visit is like rays of light for the residents of Jammu and Kashmir as well as the people outside expressing concern over the situation here, it is auspicious and preferable.

The fact also came to the fore that a major task of bringing democracy to life in the state was accomplished in the meanwhile without any hustle and bustle.

The Prime Minister launched development projects worth over Rs 20000 crore on the occasion. The fact given by Lieutenant Governor of Jammu and Kashmir Manoj Sinha is more relevant in this case that in the last six months, 80 lakh tourists have come to the state. However, there has been an old series of troubles with Jammu and Kashmir.

The democratic rights of the people are also under question especially after the abrogation of special status under Article 370. President's rule has been going on continuously since 2018. In such a situation, the real test of the government's claims regarding peace and development has to be done by the fact that how soon after the assembly elections are held, the elected government is handed over the responsibility of governance and the general democratic environment is provided to the people.

The greatness of India lies in its diversity. The game of communalism and party politics has been stabbing it in the back of unity in diversity; the valley is bleeding as its symbol. When we are moving towards becoming a new India - a strong India, we are going to become the biggest economic market of the world, we are going to prepare the role of becoming a world power, then our Jammu and Kashmir should be divided from caste, religion and selfish politics. The biggest need is to get out. The efforts of the Modi government in moving the valley in this direction are commendable.

Neighbors are taking advantage of the weak politics and communal urges of the Valley, whose own feet are not on the ground.

Now it is not happening, it is a sign of the rigidity and empowerment of the Centre. Leaders of the nation! Quit fighting each other. If you want to show your attitude, then show to the enemies of the country.

President of India addresses 95th All India Marathi Literary Conference

The President of India, Shri Ram Nath Kovind graced and addressed the 95th All India Marathi Literary Conference through a video message today (April 24, 2022).

Appreciating the organisers for naming the venue of the Conference after Bharat Ratna Lata Mangeshkar, the President said that such a meaningful use of the name of Lata ji who has given a timeless legacy to the culture of India and Maharashtra, is appropriate.

Pointing to the fact that Maharashtra Udayagiri Mahavidyalaya of the Maharashtra Education Society is marking its Diamond Jubilee this year, the President congratulated the entire team of the college for making continuous contribution in the field of education for past sixty years. Noting that the college was established by the farmers and traders of Udgir region with their hard-earned money, he said that society and nation progress only with such extraordinary contribution of ordinary citizens. He said that we should gratefully remember the contribution of founders on this occasion.

Remembering the literary contributions of Mahatma Jyotiba Phule and Dr BR Ambedkar, the President said that Mahatma Jyotiba Phule wrote revolutionary books like 'Gulamgiri' and 'Tritiya Ratna'. The play 'Tritiya Ratna' is considered as an important work of social theatre. Babasaheb dynasty who led her empire after the untimely demise of her husband; Veermata Jijabai who had not only built the character and personality of her son Veer Shivaji but also gave new heights to the Maratha pride through her able leadership; Janabai who composed a number of musical abhangas challenging caste and gender-based discrimination in the 14th century; Baija Bai who fought against British 40 years before the struggle of 1857. He also mentioned the contributions of Savitribai Phule, Sagunabai Kshirsagar, Fatima Shaikh, Mukta Salve and Tarabai Shinde to society, literature and education in 19th century's Maharashtra. He said that Tarabai Shinde wrote a book 'Stree-Purush Tulna' in the year 1882 which is considered to be the first article written on the topic of women's liberation in India. He said that the example of Dr. Anandibai Joshi who was among the first women of India to become a doctor, gives an introduction to a progressive society. In the 20th century, social workers like Pramila Tai Medhe have contributed nationwide.

The President said it is a matter of concern that the women of Maharashtra, who have been leading since ancient times in the fields of politics, social reform, thinking and literature, are lagging behind today. He noted that according to the 2011 census, Maharashtra was ranked 14th in terms of female literacy and 22nd on the sex-ratio parameter. He urged progressive citizens participating in the Literary Conference to take a pledge to encourage women to take lead in areas like health, education and literature.

Speaking about valuable and extraordinary contributions of women-power in Maharashtra, the President remembered Queen Naganika of Satavahana

Seedling School organizes 'Cooking without Flame' Competition

Udaipur: Seedling Modern Public School conducted a 'Fireless Cooking' competition on 29th April '22 with a view to creating awareness about the nutritional value of food cooked without flame. It really sounds incredible to imagine cooking without fire. Is it possible? "Yes very much possible!" said the students of grades 7 and 8 of Seedling School. The competition was organized with the objective to check and enhance the culinary skills of the students. The young chefs displayed their talent by presenting numerous innovative dishes and explaining the necessity and advantages of healthy eating and staying away from junk food. Through this activity, the students learned the spirit of teamwork, culinary skills, and appreciation of the hard work put into cooking. The aim of the activity was also to provide a platform for students to showcase their talent and explore new areas of interest. The students prepared healthy dishes like Cucumber Avocado Rolls, Papaya Salad, Butterfly Pea Lemonade, Cashew Paan Delight, and many more using easy and quick recipes. They served the dishes in an artistic and aesthetic way which was most appealing and the display was a visual treat tickling to the taste buds. Each class prepared 3-4 items which included a drink, snacks, and a dish of their choice.

The competition was judged on the basis of presentation, cleanliness, teamwork and taste of food. The principal of the school, Ms. Keerti Maken said that the aim of this activity was to provide a platform for the students to showcase their talent and explore new areas of interest and create awareness about the nutritional values of the food cooked without fire. ## Rajasthan CM describes power outage in country as 'national crisis'

Jaipur: He said the demand for electricity has increased in 16 states due to the rising mercury levels and coal is not being supplied in accordance with the requirement, Terming power outage a "national crisis", Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot expressed concern on Friday over the shortage of coal supply in the country and the simultaneous increase in electricity demand during summer.

He said the demand for electricity has increased in 16 states due to the rising mercury levels and coal is not being supplied in accordance with the requirement, affecting the power supply. "This is a national crisis. I appeal to everyone to unite in this crisis and support the government in improving the situation. Turn off non-essential electrical appliances at your home or workplace.

Set your priorities and use electricity in accordance with your need," Gehlot said in a tweet in Hindi.

He condemned the Rajasthan unit of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) for putting pressure on the employees of the power distribution companies by staging protests.

"In Rajasthan, the BJP is putting pressure on the electricity department employees, who are doing their work in a challenging atmosphere amidst the power crisis, by staging demonstrations," the veteran Congress leader said.

"It is the job of the Centre to provide coal to the states. Will the directionless state BJP leadership ask the Centre why it is not able to provide coal in accordance with the demand, due to which there has been a crisis in 16 states?" he asked.

Newly introduced holiday train between Udaipur and Banda starting from May 2'nd 2022 As the economy is reopening after the traumatic pandemic, there has been an exponential rise in the number of travellers. And most of them are preferring trains over any other mode of travel because of obvious reasons. By obvious reason, we mean cost, safety, comfort and a lot more facilities the trains offer to its passengers as compared to air or road travel. Therefore, Indian railways these days are running jam-packed with passengers. Railway travellers are struggling to get a confirmed seat due to increased travel demand. This exponential rise in railway travel demand may be either due to eased COVID-19 travel restrictions or due to summer vacations.

Reports say that the train booking has surged around 1.5 times since Holi and it is anticipated that they will continue to follow this trend till May end. Therefore considering this skyrocketing number of railway passengers, the North-Western railway decided to run a new summer special train connecting Udaipur and Banda. This facility is offered by the railway association to provide convenient and comfortable services to its passengers. Mentioned herewith is the train schedule:

Udaipur - Banda Special Train Schedule:

According to the latest press release, this Train (No. 09067) will run once a week, beginning from May 2'nd 2022 till June 13'th, 2022. Reports also said that the train will depart from Banda terminus every Monday at 23:45 and will reach Maharana Pratap Railway Station, Udaipur at 14:55 the very next day.
