Young generation should learn from Pratap's bravery and valour : Chief Minister
- Chief Minister attends 483rd birth anniversary function of Maharana Pratap
- Young generation should work with the spirit of self-respect and dedication

Udaipur: Chief Minister Shri Ashok Gehlot said that the young generation is getting inspired by Maharana Pratap's sacrifice, valour and bravery by celebrating his birth anniversary every year. The saga of his bravery and sacrifice not only inspires the people of Rajasthan but also the country and abroad to move ahead with the spirit of self-respect.

Shri Gehlot was addressing the 483rd birth anniversary function of Maharana Pratap at Sukhadia Rangmanch organised by Mewar Kshatriya Mahasabha and Municipal Corporation on Monday. He said that it is the duty of the present generation to hand over this glorious saga of valour as heritage to the coming generations. We should take an oath to work only for the service of humanity. He said that let us make the places Chavand, Gogunda, Haldighati etc associated with the life of Maharana Pratap, which are the identity of Mewar, as special.

Veer Shiromani

Maharana Pratap Board
The Chief Minister in the function announced to form

Veer Shiromani Maharana Pratap Board. This board will make the young generation aware about Pratap's bravery.

The board will prepare a plan for course content, heritage conservation, new constructions, research on various languages, publicity of the publications, national and international awards, lectures, kavi sammelans etc. This will build an atmosphere for the new generation.

Shri Gehlot also announced development works of Samadhi of Maharana Pratap, Place of coronation and other places with a cost of Rs 5 crore and allotment of land for hostel near Meera Medpat Girls' Hostel. He said that an announcement has already been made to make the Maharana Pratap panorama for Rs 4 crore and work order has also been issued.

Mewar Complex will prove effective for conservation of history

The Chief Minister said that the Mewar Complex was announced when he was the Union Minister. Under this, development of all the places related with Maharana Pratap was started from the tourism point of view.

Efforts were made that domestic and foreign tourists know about the glorious history of these places. Shri Gehlot said that if the Mewar Complex is made effective then it will prove effective in conserving history. He requested the Member of Parliament from Chittorgarh to retrieve the old files related to the complex from the Central Government and get the development work done under this. He said that he would also urge the Prime Minister for this by writing a letter.

Successful treatment of 2 pre-mature newborns in Udaipur's Paras Health

Udaipur. Generally, pregnancy is 40 weeks, but recently two women gave birth to babies in acute conditions before the due date at Paras Health, Udaipur. One child's weight was only 1 kg, and the weight of the child born to another woman was 1.1 kg. These babies were challenging to save as they were born prematurely. In such a situation, Dr. Rajkumar Bishnoi and Dr. Ashish Chandrakant Thite, experts of Paras Health, Udaipur, treated them carefully and gave them a new life. Dr. Ashish Chandrakant Thite, Consultant, Pediatric and Neonatal Intensivist, Paras Health, Udaipur, said that the baby's birth weight was only 1.1 kg, due to which the baby had other problems as well. He said it is difficult for babies below 26 weeks of pregnancy to survive outside the mother's womb. We put him on ventilator support to save the child's life; his lungs were also not well developed, for which we gave some injections. So that the child's lungs can be strengthened, he said that the child also had an infection in the brain, which was treated very carefully, and after about 45 days of treatment, the child's condition improved, and now the child is completely healthy.

On the other hand, Dr. Rajkumar Bishnoi, Consultant Neonatology, Paras Hospital, Udaipur, said that a pregnant woman had a premature delivery at 26 weeks; at that time, the weight of the child was only one kilogram, but we continued her routine checkup. After which, we saw that the child was developing slowly, his brain was also developing, digestion was also expected, then slowly started feeding, and the child's weight was increasing. When the child started recovering, we kept him in the normal air room. He was developing at par with other babies and weighed around 2 kgs; we discharged him after the baby became normal. Now both the children are healthy and leading an everyday life. After getting a new life, his relatives thanked the doctors.

Human welfare is possible only through truth and non-violence : Chief Minister Udaipur. Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot on Monday laid the foundation stone of the Global Institute of Jainology and Prakrit Bhawan of Mohanlal Sukhadia University, Udaipur. He also took the blessings of Acharya Vardhaman Sagar Maharaj at Panch Kalyanak Mahotsav.

Mr. Gehlot said at the festival that the country needs to walk on the path of truth and non-violence by adopting the message told by Lord Mahavir. This is the only way that human welfare will happen. Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi also brought the principles of Mahavir ji to life and gave the message of non-violence to the world. He said that I have moved ahead by entering politics and adopting truth-non-violence.

The Chief Minister said that the state government is doing everything possible for the all-round development of the state. Public welfare schemes were made in the budget only after a thorough study by the experts. Dearness relief camps are being organized to provide relief to the people of the state from rising inflation. More than 5 crores of Chief Minister Guarantee Cards of 10 welfare schemes have been handed over to the common people. The benefits have also started pouring in. Mr. Gehlot said that to realize the concept of Nirogi Rajasthan, the Rajasthan government first passed the Right to Health Act in the country. In this, medical facilities will be available to every person without any hindrance. Free treatment up to Rs 25 lakh is also being provided under the Chief Minister Chiranjeevi Health Insurance Scheme.

The Chief Minister said that this building will prove to be important from the point of view of study, research, and knowledge of the origin and development of Jain's spiritual philosophy. He said that in the atmosphere prevailing in the country today, the principles of equality of all religions, truth, and non-violence of Lord Mahavir and Mahatma Gandhi are most relevant. It is the responsibility of all of us to maintain peace, harmony, and brotherhood in the country. The young generation should work for the welfare of humanity.

Addressing the program, former Minister of State for Education and MLA Mr. Govind Singh Dotsara said that the Chief Minister, who is running the mission of making the state a leader in the country by the year 2030, has worked for the development and human welfare of the state by rising above caste, religion, class, etc. worked for.

Social worker Khodania said that the idea of 'live and let live' is proving meaningful in the government of Chief Minister Shri Ashok Gehlot. He said that during the Corona period, the state government protected Digambar Jain saints during their migration from one place to another. He also informed that the state government has sanctioned funds for developing several Jain pilgrimages. On this occasion, Khodania demanded the construction of Sant Bhavans at every 20 km distance for the night rest of Jain saints during their voyage and expressed gratitude to the Chief Minister for being present in the program.

Earlier, Acharya Shri Vardhaman Sagar said that just as Lord Mahavir did many essential works for public welfare, similarly, the Chief Minister of the state is also trying for human welfare. Giving his best wishes to the Chief Minister, he said that he will always remain committed to human welfare. Acharya Vardhaman Sagar called upon the people present to follow the path shown by the Tirthankaras and noted that the state government has done valuable work in developing and securing all the pilgrimages, including Jain pilgrimage sites. He also called the Chief Minister to set up a Jain Welfare Fund. Chief Minister Shri Ashok Gehlot and other dignitaries laid the foundation stone of Mohanlal Sukhadia University's Prakrit Bhawan from the stage in the program. They released a booklet titled 'The Basis of a happy life: Vegetarianism.' In the end, Mr. Khodania thanked everyone.

Tribal Regional Development Minister Mr. Arjun Singh Bamniya, MLA Mr. Phool Singh Meena, Mrs. Preeti Shaktawat, Mr. Dinesh Khodania, chief guest of Panchkalyanak Pratishtha Mahotsav Vardhaman Sagar Maharaj and officials of Jain Mahasabha were present in the ceremony.
